

LIQUOR IS HELD CONTRABAND BY JUDGE COCHRAN

Federal Judge Rules That Whisky, Ownership of Which Has Been in Dispute For Two Years, Shall Be Sold By The Government.

The fate of 993 cases of Old Tucker whisky, the ownership of which has been in dispute for two and a half years, has at last been decided.

Federal Judge A. M. J. Cochran, who heard arguments in the case at Maysville several weeks ago, handed down a decision the past week, holding that the liquor is contraband and shall be sold by the government, as provided by law in the case of seized liquor.

Of all Kentucky's famous whisky this lot is probably the most famous. Originally it was a lot of 1,000 cases, each containing twenty-four pints of "Old Tucker." Seven cases became lost in a trip to Michigan. The remainder is now in the warehouse of the Louisville Public Warehouse Company at Louisville.

The government seized the liquor early in 1921 and labeled it as contraband goods. Bert Moss, of Detroit, filed an intervening petition claiming ownership of the whisky. When the case was called at Maysville recently the prohibition department filed a demurrer to Moss' intervening petition. This demurrer was sustained by Judge Cochran, which means that Moss' claim to the whisky was disallowed and that the government will dispose of it in due course of time.

Judge B. J. Bethune, assistant prohibition director, and assistant District Attorney H. S. McGuire represented the prohibition department and the government in the case. Attorney Charles Fennell represented the intervenor.

"The liquor in question here has had a most devious career," says Judge Cochran in his official pronouncement on the case.

"It was run out of Michigan. Upon its return to Kentucky it was in some sense seized by the Federal Prohibition Director and placed in the warehouse of the Louisville Public Warehouse Company at Louisville. After having laid there for about six months and a release of the hold of Prohibition Director of Kentucky thereon having been secured in some manner not disclosed, an illegal sale thereof was made by the intervenor to a drug company, a fake concern, as conceded in the argument, though not appearing from the pleadings, and a fraudulent shipment thereof was made to conceal the illegality in the transaction.

"And, furthermore, it was not until the lapse of nine months from the time of the seizure that the intervenor came forward and set up claim to the liquor. It follows that the demurrer to the intervening petition is sustained."

RESTORVILLE FARM SOLD.

Shornton Arm, Saturday sold for Mr. R. L. Fisher, of Newport, Ky., his farm of 50 acres, formerly the J. M. Thacker farm, located at Restorville, Ky., to Mr. W. R. Dennis, of Cincinnati, Ohio, who will move here with his family about November 10th and will make his home here. This is a nice little farm and is well located. S. J. MORGAN, C. P. JNO. W. CARDINALS BREAK
EVEN IN CYNTHIANA
SERIES; WIN SUNDAY

Cynthiana Club Defeats Locals on Saturday but the Tables Are Turned in the Sabbath Afternoon Contest.

Just how happened no one seems to know but the Cardinals in their two game series with Cynthiana managed to win one of the games and secure an even break. Miner seemed to out-pitch both Long and Monhollen in Saturday's game for the Cards outthrew their opponents 9 to 8 but were nipped out in a close finish 5 to 4, Cynthiana scoring three runs in the eighth, and the Cards making 2 in the ninth.

Sunday's contest must have been a farce with McClure holding the opposition to six scattered hits and a single run while his team mates piled up 14 blunders and 9 runs off Gilman.

ALLEGED GUN USER GOES FREE ON EXAMINATION

Examining Court Clears John Smith of Charge of Shooting and Wounding John Cotty at Germantown.

Henry Smith, charged with shooting and wounding John Cotty at Germantown during the Germantown Fair, was given an examining trial before 'Squire Fred Dracal Monday morning and dismissed by that Magistrate after hearing all of the evidence.

Cotty was shot while getting into a buggy in a Germantown alley on the first night of the Germantown Fair. There was no evidence that Smith was the man who fired the shots which wounded Cotty, except Cotty's own testimony. The man who occupied the buggy with Cotty when he was shot testified that it was a dark rainy night and that the user of the gun could not be seen when the shots were fired.

Smith was being held under bond. He was discharged and his bond exonerated.

ALLIES AWAIT KEMAL'S ANSWER TO PEACE TERMS

Constantinople Offered Turks in Peace Proposal Made By Allies—Answer Expected To Be Made Today.

Paris, Sept. 25. — The reply of Mustafa Kemal to the allied near east peace proposals—which means peace or war—was awaited today.

There was a definite feeling of optimism that Kemal, leader of the victorious Nationalists, would accept the allied plan which allows the Turks to come back into Europe, giving them their capital, Constantinople, and restoring to them Eastern Thrace as far as the Maritza River.

It was hoped an answer to the allied proposals, which also invites Kemal to attend a near east peace conference, presumably to be held in October, would be received by the end of the week. Franklin Bouillon, French near east expert, has left Paris and is due to confer with Kemal Friday, it was stated.

It was reported here that Kemal objected to this peace parity invitation because Bulgaria and Russia were not included in the call. It was believed Bouillon, who is said to have the confidence of the Turkish leader, will be able to persuade Kemal to accept the terms which, it was pointed out, include almost the entire list of demands made on the allies by Kemal.

DEMOCRATIC ARGUMENT DISPROVEN.

It is one of the stock arguments of the opponents of a Republican protective tariff that we cannot hope to sell abroad unless we buy abroad. Our Democratic friends leave the inference, although they have not the hardihood to make the direct assertion, that our selling abroad will be in proportion to our buying abroad. Unless that is the natural ultimate conclusion of their argument it means nothing at all.

This theory of foreign trade loses all its force when confronted by the facts shown by the report of imports and exports of merchandise for the month of July and for the seven months of the present calendar year ended with July. This report shows, for instance, that in the seven months period we increased our imports of foreign goods to the extent of nearly $200,000,000. If the Democrats are right in their theory of the effect of heavy purchases abroad, our products should have found a large market abroad. The report shows, however, that instead of increasing our sales abroad there was a decrease of more than $700,000,000 in our exports for the seven months ended with July, as compared with the corresponding period in the previous year.

The same state of affairs is seen when we consider particular countries. For example, during the seven months period, we increased our purchases from the United Kingdom to the extent of $45,000,000. Instead of enjoying a corresponding increase in our sales to the United Kingdom the report of foreign trade shows that in the seven months period, as compared with the corresponding period of the year before, our sales fell off $107,000,000.

A somewhat similar situation is shown in our trade with Germany. In the period above mentioned we increased our purchases from Germany to the extent of $16,000,000 but instead of finding a larger market in Germany for American goods our sales to Germany fell off to the extent of $37,000,000.

Turning to South America, in which we hope to transact an increasing quantity of foreign business, we find the same story told. We increased our purchases in South America $3,000,000 while we decreased our sales to South America to the extent of $78,000,000.

It is undoubtedly true that the United States could not entirely discontinue purchases from foreign countries and continue indefinitely to sell to them. No one has ever proposed tariff legislation which would result in the establishment of such a policy. No tariff law that was ever written by Republicans imposed rates of duty so high as to be prohibitive. All that a Republican tariff has ever undertaken to do was to impose a tax that would equalize the difference in the cost of production thus protecting the American producer from destructive competition.

When, therefore, the Democratic press and Democratic campaigners talk about our shutting off trade with other countries, they are discussing an issue that is not now, never has been, and never will be present. Moreover, when they make assertions which leave the inference that the more we buy abroad the more we can expect to sell abroad, they are advancing a theory which is directly and conclusively disproven by the facts.

JIBS FOR EVERYBODY.

The unemployment problem is with us no more. A year ago it was estimated there were 5,500,000 men looking for jobs. They have not all found work, but those who are willing to work and have not found the opportunity are not in excess of our normal idle population. This result has been achieved in spite of the scores of strikes engineered by designing labor bosses. The coal mines, the railroads, the textile mills, the shoe factories and many other industries have been hard hit by the conspiracies of professional and unscrupulous agitators, but they have not only weathered the storm but have actually given employment in the aggregate to upwards of 3,000,000 more individuals than were working at this time last year.

Mr. Gompers shouts with glee that the fight to deflate wages has ended. Mr. Gompers began the fight himself when he secured from President Wilson a promissory note to the effect that the cost of living would be reduced within ninety days. To pay that note, President Wilson's subordinates made this country an industrial shambles. Instead of having wages merely cut, millions of Mr. Gompers' followers found themselves without any wages at all. — Manufacturers' Record.

SPORTS

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 21. — The officials for the University of Pittsburgh-University of Cincinnati football game on Carson Field, Cincinnati, September 30 will travel a greater distance than any set of officials that have ever been brought to Cincinnati. The total expense of these officials will be greater than was paid for all the officials in the entire season four years ago. B. J. Ryan, of Philadelphia, former University of Michigan football player, is to referee. Harry Costello, of Detroit, former Georgetown quarterback is to umpire, and Dr. F. L. Lambert, of Columbus, Ohio State University graduate is head linesman. All these men were assigned by the Central Board on Officials.

Last year in the Pittsburgh-Cincinnati game at Pittsburgh, the same type of officials were used. It was a very fortunate thing that high class officials were used that day because some very unusual things occurred. For the first time in a major football game the kickoff was made from the 30 yard line due to a penalty inflicted on Pittsburgh just as Cincinnati was ready to kick off. Following this unusual kickoff Cincinnati scored a second touchdown by recovering the ball behind the Pittsburgh goal line and for the second time an unusual point was brought up.

The Pitt team that takes the field against Cincinnati will average 185, almost 20 pounds more than Cincinnati weighs. The center and two guards for Pitt will weigh a total of 650 pounds. Miller, center, being the heaviest with 230 pounds, followed closely by Clark and Sachs, at guard. The tackles will average 190 and behind the line will be Hippo Hewitt, giant fullback who weighs 212. Among all these big men there isn't a single fat one. They are just enormously big. In addition to the great weight in the backfield there is great speed. Warner's system requires speed and quickness in handling the ball. Pittsburgh uses more reverse plays in one game than most teams use in a season. An offensive play, a reverse, and a triple pass have been Warner's biggest ground gains in the past three years and a backfield to handle those plays must be both shifty and big.

Reserved seats for the Pitt game can be had by writing to Boyd B. Chambers, Director of Athletics, University of Cincinnati before Saturday. On Monday the seats that are left go on public sale at Spalding and Bredemours, from present indications a record breaking crowd will attend this game.

MONEY AND MARKETS.

The foremost question of the moment is whether the remarkable activity of the midsummer months will be followed by a period of gradually and conservatively increased business or whether it is the forerunner of a period of secondary inflation. The indications point clearly to the conclusion that good business based primarily on domestic requirements is ahead for the autumn months but that inflation in the generally accepted sense will not occur.

Manufacture is on a satisfactory basis, excepting in so far as some industries have suffered from lack of coal and inadequate transportation facilities. Crop yields are excellent for practically all crops except cotton, according to the September estimates, and the forecast is for a cotton crop more than two million bales above that of last year. Unemployment is practically non-existent. Retail and wholesale business in the United States during the autumn will show considerable expansion over that of the corresponding period of 1921.

It must nevertheless be recognized that even though crops are large, dollar wheat, a considerable decline in the price of hogs since the first of June, and relatively low prices of other agricultural products have reduced the purchasing power of the farmer. The situation is similar in respect to other important classes of raw materials. These conditions and the fact that not far from one million men were continuously out of work as a result of strikes during the greater part of the summer, are major factors which have effectively blocked inflation at this time. Business is being booked for requirements of the immediate future and forward buying is cautious. Good business is assured but it is not reasonable to expect a boom.

Conditions abroad and the state of the exchanges are not such as to encourage any idea that there is to be any large increase in European business in the near future. Exports from the United States to countries where general business shows improvement, such as Australia, the leading South American countries, Central America and the West Indies will probably increase somewhat but these countries are primarily dependent on conditions in the international market for raw materials, chiefly agricultural, and their inhabitants are therefore in a position differing in no important way from that of the American farmer. They will unquestionably buy more freely than they thought last year but not extravagantly.

It may well be that prices in some lines may continue to tend upward as price and wage readjustment proceeds, but any rapid general upward tendency in the prices of goods ready for the ultimate consumer would be checked by willingness and inability on the part of purchasers throughout the world to follow up the market. Manufacturers and merchants will still find it essential to pursue a policy of careful and economical operation, for the best prospect of profits lies not in rapidly rising prices but in operating efficiency and gradually expanding volume of business.

The probable course of money rates during the next few months may be judged in connection with several factors, namely, the degree of activity in general business, the course of government refunding operations, the amount of slack present in the lending capacity of the individual banks of the country and the change in the effect of crop-moving requirements on the money situation by reason of the operations of the Federal reserve system.

One of the prime purposes of the establishment of the Federal reserve system was to overcome the seasonal stringency which prior to that time had been a characteristic of the money market of this country. The abnormal business conditions which prevailed from the autumn of 1914 until midsummer of 1921 made it impossible to judge with any accuracy the probable effectiveness of the system in stabilizing the money market through the crop-moving season. During the autumn months of 1921 the dominant factor in the money market was the rapid liquidation of loans as a result of the general business readjustment then in progress. The current season is the first since the passage of the Federal reserve act when the machinery then established has had the opportunity to function under reasonably normal conditions. It is nevertheless noteworthy that although large crops were moved very rapidly during the fall months of 1921, the resultant demand for money did not check the steady decline in money rates.

On the basis of current conditions and the factors referred to above, there is no justification for expecting any sharp change in money rates in the near future although such change as takes place is likely to be in the direction of slightly higher rates.—National Bank of Commerce in New York.

The L. & N. Railroad Brings Good Northern Farmers to Better Farm Lands In the South

For many years the Louisville & Nashville Railroad has conducted an educational campaign of solicitation among farmers all over the North, in a systematic effort to induce them to move South. By personal representatives and through the printed word, in such forms as magazines, farm papers, booklets, folders, letters, etc., this railroad has painted the attractions of the South to the farmer who lives in the colder sections of the North and Central West.

Tangible evidence of the success of this work is seen in happy homes and flourishing communities all over the territory served by the L. & N.; this work marking pioneer development in these sections and adding untold millions to the general community wealth.

The Industrial and Immigration Department of the L. & N. Serves Both the Farmer and the Community

This Department renders a distinct service, both to the farmer and to the community in which he resides. Its agents are not satisfied until the farmer has found the exact piece of land he requires and has been scientifically instructed how to make and market a profitable crop.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad has nothing to sell except its services as a common carrier. It does not own land, mines or other things in which the public is invited to invest. Its Industrial and Immigration Department is conducted entirely for the good of the community and the individual.

It is in many Northern localities, as compared to the delightfully temperate conditions that exist throughout the South. Any of these booklets, or other information will be gladly furnished on request of the Industrial and Immigration Department of the L. & N., at Louisville, Ky.

No Discontinuance of Passenger Service
Notwithstanding the severe conditions under which railroad have been obliged to operate during the past two months, the L. & N., up to the present time, has not found it necessary to discontinue any of its passenger train or sleeping car service.

STEADFAST CONFIDENCE

The Following Statement Should Form Conclusive Proof of Merit To Every Maysville Reader.

Could stronger proof of the merit of any remedy be desired than the statements of grateful endorser who say their confidence has been undiminished by lapse of time? These are the kind of statements that are appearing constantly in your local papers for Doan's Kidney Pills. They are twice told and confirmed, with new enthusiasm. Can any reader doubt the following? Its from a Maysville resident: Mrs. M. Holliday, 221 East Second street, says: "My back became weak and time and ached across my kidneys. My kidneys acted irregularly and I was dizzy and had headaches. I used Doan's Kidney Pills bought at Wood & Son's Drug Store and they relieved me of the attack." (Statement given November 16th, 1916.)

On November 22, 1920, Mrs. Holliday added: "My kidneys have given me no trouble at all since using Doan's Kidney Pills. I gladly renew my former statement."

Price 60 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply say for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Holliday had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs. Buffalo, N. Y.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

New York.—The days of rife and uncess in America from humble and undiscovered beginnings have by no means passed, in spite of the pessimists. Here and there, yet only 21 years ago, a man, who came to this country from Norway when he was six, and who landed in New York and went to work here as a boy, he got a job to have any kind of a job. When he was sixteen years old, he got a job
as office boy with a firm of bookbinders, and has remained with them ever since. The other day, his employer, De Coppot & Dorema, made him a present of a seat on the stock exchange for which they paid $88,000.

—NY—
No longer do men scoff at the tion of women's "tea-rooms" as places for daily nourishment. The day has vanished when they stood for a frail elbow of cinnamon toast and a clove late éclair. Maybe, it's because women themselves are doing harder and more responsible work in the world that has turned their thoughts toward real food.
At any rate, I have discovered that nowhere in this city of chop houses and grill rooms does one get more substantial roast beef than in the face-teria of the American Women's Association, at 218 Madison avenue, and her it's because the association is composed of business and professional women or whether they enjoy seeing a number of men that flock to their restaurant, I am not certain. Miss Lorraine Willets, manager, says that the difference in the average luncheon check of a man and of a woman indicates the discrimination which still exists in the matter of lunch. "Seventy-five cents for a man's lunch, and 45 cents for a woman's, is the way they run," she said. "But the woman's is creeping up,

and in time they will be equal."
The committee of this same association, which has charge of the plain-tiff's table of the big new clubhouse and hotel for business women and the country is finding evidence of pretty good prosperity
among the women workers of the land.
Some of this difference in food
checks, they tell me,
The law wouldn't let Francesco Tata

take his proxy bride, Antonia Martinia, back to Detroit with him, as planned,
when she landed here the other day.
The law frowns upon proxy marriages,
and as Antonia could not read any language, unmarried, she came under the ban of the Immigration law. So Francesca just filed out to the detention pen with his sweetheart, and spent a fourteen day honeymoon there on Ellis Island, before some of his friends became worried by his disappearance and got the Italian Consul on his trail. The law couldn't allow him

let Antonia go to Detroit with him, so the honeymoon and the whole romance

Thomas J. Denny should have been a Knight of Leng Ago or a motion picture actor. Instead he is a riding instructor. When two men attacked him in West Forty-eighth street, the other night, undoubtedly seeing an easy victim in him because his right arm was in a sling, he fought both of them off with his left hand and held them until the arrival of the police.

We did away with ticket takers on the subway lines, when we adopted the nickle-in-the-slot machines. But now, we have to employ eagle-eyed watchers to keep their eyes on enlarged reflections of the nickels, in order to prevent lead slugs being substituted.
This unkind method of getting ahead of the subway company reached such proportions that "detectors" have been installed. A detector is a small but powerful projecting machine, the beam of which passed through the coin box and throws on the wall or ceiling an enlarged picture of whatever is dropped into the box.
